Title: All About Juka Bows <h3>About Juka Bows

Author: Historian Laurette

First found in the 2002
'scenario 3' publish, each Juka Lord carries a special brown bow which when modified has Slayer properties. There are 1275 different Juka
Bows possible. [next] Juka Bows from before the Age of Shadows have distinct names, such as "a Blood Drinking Bow" or
"Bow of Arachnid Doom".
There were 24 slayer types originally but after AOS it became possible to also find "undead" bows. When first found Juka Bows are unusable and are brown- they turn black and are usable after being modified by any GM ⊂≡etcher. Some of the earliest [next] juka bows retain another of the old Virtue Weapon traits, being labeled "a magic bow". Jukas are the only remaining items from the Virtue era to not have lost the original enhanced name labels- for example, all other Demon Slaying weapons that once were labeled "of Exorcism" changed to "demon slayer"
When AOS arrived, jukas stopped spawning with the old names, or any name

at all, thus you [next] now have to modify the bow just to see what type it is. Although the Virtue names for new bows were lost after AOS, there is a side effect whereby if you modify pre-aos brown jukas they becomes a black juka with a second slayer property- a true Double Slayer. The second slaying ability can be any of the 25 types except it cannot be the same as the first. [next]
There also exist modified no-name juka bows with no slayer ability at all.
Zero Slayers- which when double clicked say "that has been modified already"
but possess no slaying ability at all.
24 named unmodded brown
24 named modded black
48 "a magic bow"
25 modern modded black
576 named double slayers
576 "a magic" double
